CANBERRA

Her Majesty's Prime Minister of Australia presents his duty to the Queen and respectfully informs the Queen that a proposed law passed by the Senate and the House of Representatives of Australia entitled "An Act relating to the Royal Style and Titles" was presented to His Excellency the Governor-General of Australia for the Queen's Assent.

His Excellency was advised that the Constitution of Australia did not require His Excellency to reserve the proposed law for the Queen's pleasure to be made known. His Excellency was further advised, however, that, under the Constitution, His Excellency might, in His Excellency's discretion, reserve the proposed law for the Queen's pleasure.

His Excellency was also advised that, in the opinion of the Australian Government, it would be appropriate that a Bill so closely affecting the Queen should be reserved for the Queen's pleasure and it was therefore recommended that His Excellency should reserve the Bill accordingly.

His Excellency has accepted the recommendation and has reserved the Bill for the Queen's pleasure.

It is the view of the Australian Government that the Queen should be pleased to assent to the Bill, and it is therefore recommended accordingly.
